

1. Blatt ausdrucken (am besten auf dickerem Papier)
2. Die Doppelkarte ausschneiden
3. In der Mitte falten und zusammen kleben.
4. Alle 14 Karten sammeln!

WILLOW'S INSPIRING WOMEN

© photo: Antonio Cruz/ABE

Willow Willpower by blOOturtle

Wangari Maathai

* 1 April 1940, † 25 September 2011

In 2004, the environmental activist was the first African woman to receive the Nobel Peace Prize

Performances

- In 1971, she was the first Kenyan woman to earn a doctorate from the University of Nairobi. In the same year she became the first professor of veterinary anatomy and later dean of her faculty at the University of Nairobi.
- 1977: Establishment of the afforestation project „Green Belt Movement“, which should soon become a pan-African movement in 13 countries. So she was called „mother of the trees“
- Wangari became the central figure of identification of the women's movement in Kenya.
- 1990s: repeatedly imprisoned and mistreated by the head of state
- 1997: Elected to the Kenyan Parliament and appointed Deputy Minister of Environmental Protection. She was the first green politician in Africa to make the leap into a government.
- She has received many awards, ia. 1984: Right Livelihood Award and 2004 Nobel Peace Prize

13

Wangari Maathai

Environmental Activist

Sammelkarten „Willow's Inspiring Women“!

Willow Willpower von Sara Cannata auf blOOturtle.com